EducationUSA Hungary NewsL: Issue 1/2021

Happy New Year from the EducationUSA team!

We would like to start off this first newsletter of 2021 by extending you our most sincere warm wishes for the New Year. Though we know that a lot remains uncertain in the world, we are optimistic that 2021 represents a year of opportunity for all of you, with a lot to be achieved. This month's calendar includes virtual workshops, scholarship offers, as well as the opportunity to plan for spring deadlines – just keep on reading to find out more!

Introducing our newest advisor...

Dear EducationUSA Students and Families,

It is my pleasure to join the EducationUSA team this spring as a 2020-2021 Fulbright grant recipient. Due to the COVID-19 crisis, I was unfortunately unable to begin my experience in Hungary in September, but am thrilled to be here now! I am originally from Dallas, Texas, and obtained my Bachelor of Arts at the University of Houston. My undergraduate studies in Modern Languages set me on a trajectory of pursuing graduate studies abroad and working in higher education. I am passionate about student success, and am humbled to help you explore and achieve your goals of studying in the United States.

For the next six months you can find me at the EducationUSA office here in Budapest, as well as teaching American Studies courses at Károli Gáspár University. I can't wait to meet you all and guide you towards your next exciting chapter in your academic career. Please feel free to contact me at marvin@fulbright.hu with any questions!

Kindly,
Camille Marvin

Jan 18 - National Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday

On January 18th we remember and celebrate the legacy of Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. His fight for civil rights, his activism and his non-violent ethos set him apart as one of the most significant and selfless figures in American History. You can take a look at this article from the National Museum for African American History and Culture in Washington, D.C. to find out more about the history of this national holiday.

Tips and Tricks for staying organized this year!

January is the time to look to the year ahead and plan accordingly. Organization and time management are the keys to succeeding in your applications for universities, internships, scholarships and summer programs! Not sure where to start? Here are a few tips:

- Invest in a good-quality wall calendar or agenda. If you're more comfortable with keeping track of everything online, set up an easy-to-use online calendar (Google Calendar is my favorite!).

- Write down every deadline. Make sure to read all of the application requirements. If you need to obtain official documents, or letters of recommendation, plan accordingly and set your own "deadlines" for each component of the application.
- If you're interested in a specific university, for example, follow them on Twitter and set up a Google News alert so that you can stay informed.
- Keep track of your short-term and long-term goals for 2021. You can write them in your agenda or in a diary. Refer back to them when you need some motivation!
- Establish a consistent sleep and work schedule, even if you're staying home. It's good for maintaining balance and staying concentrated.
- Of course, ask for help if you need to! If you need assistance planning or writing, make an appointment with one of our advisors: EducationUSA@fulbright.hu
