Competitive College Club Session

The Fulbright EducationUSA Advising Center has already begun the Competitive College Club. We strongly encourage high schoolers who are interested in studying in the United States and are willing to put in the work and effort it takes to put together a successful college application.

October 21st will be our third meeting, and interested students are welcome to attend. The next meeting will introduce students to ways to critically analyze and infer information from written material.

Time: 3:00-4:00 p.m.

Date: October 21st (Wednesday), 2015

Venue: Fulbright EducationUSA Advising Center (1082 Budapest, Baross u. 62. 1st floor, Room 111)

Weekly College Spotlight: Christopher Newport University

Located close to Washington, D.C. in the southeastern state of Virginia, Christopher Newport University offers an engaged community of students taught by exceptional professors.

Christopher Newport offers more than 80 areas of academic study, from our internationally accredited Luter School of Business to the applied physics and engineering programs that enjoy presence at Jefferson Labs, run by the U.S. Department of Energy. Students benefit from world-class facilities where they engage in scientific research at our integrated science center and perform on stage at the Ferguson Center for the Arts, the cultural hub of Southeast Virginia.

Christopher Newport is dedicated to providing our international student population with a private college experience at a diverse public university. As such, they have created an international student organization to give all of their new students from around the globe an immediate social support group. Their international students represent over 30 different nations and they are eager to welcome new students to campus each year.

Pittsburgh State University Still Accepting Applicants for January Entrance

Pittsburgh State University has announced that they are still accepting applications for undergraduate and their Intensive English Program for a January entrance date. International applicants are not required to submit SAT or ACT scores, nor are teacher recommendations required. Students who have not taken the TOEFL may still apply, because Pittsburgh State offers conditional admission if students complete the Intensive English Program.
