EducationUSA Hungary NewsL: Issue 12/2018

So Many Opportunities, So Little Time

This week we are highlighting many exciting opportunities for Hungarian students in the United States. The number of educational opportunities in the U.S. are truly countless. Find information on many of these throughout this week's newsletter. One such opportunity is a brand new Master's program at the University of Chicago:

The University of Chicago's Harris School of Public Policy is offering a Master of Arts in International Development and Policy (MAIDP) program in conjunction with the Obama Foundation Scholarship. Students will experience a one-of-a-kind program that combines a Master of Arts degree at the University of Chicago with an extraordinary scholarship that includes access to exceptional experiences outside the classroom with the Obama Foundation. Students will be part of a network of rising leaders. It's an experience that is sure to change young leaders—and will help them change the world. Applications are now open, with two deadlines approaching fast! Learn more about the application process and the inaugural class of scholars.

Schools in Focus

In the US there are 57 higher education institutions that are part of the #YouAreWelcomeHere national scholarship program, pledging to create scholarships for international students to study in the U.S. This initiative was started in November 2016 following expressions of apprehension by some international students about studying in the U.S. The #YouAreWelcomeHere hashtag has been turned into an international campaign to ensure that international students at U.S. universities and colleges feel welcome in the U.S. Here are a couple of the universities that are part of this initiative:

Kent State University

Financing Your Education

We understand that financial pressure is a big challenge for most international students who are often responsible for supporting themselves financially—paying for their own tuition in addition to living expenses. We're here to ease that pressure! Here are 10 universities offering international students some type of financial aid: and you can find a list of new scholarship opportunities posted on EducationUSA website.
