News and Resources

Community Colleges: A Pathway to Success

Have you considered studying at a U.S. community college? Almost half of American undergraduates and 96,000 international students begin their studies at such schools.

Typically, annual tuition is half that of public four-year institutions. Many offer intensive English classes, which help international students to succeed in their studies. Learn more: <http://bit.ly/2vcavGk>

Call for Scholarship Applicants

The Western Union Foundation aims to give women, including migrants and refugees, an opportunity at higher education through the WU Scholars program. Students pursuing a post-secondary education in the areas of science, technology, engineering, mathematics, business and entrepreneurship programs can apply for a scholarship. Deadline: April 30. Tips for Law School Applications

The U.S. is home to some of the best law schools in the world, so students come from every continent to the country to pursue their law degree. However, the law school application process presents some unique challenges for international students or non-native English speakers. Knowing these three things can help you better prepare for the law school application process: <http://bit.ly/2U7kWdr>
