Dear Readers,

Did you know that EducationUSA, Hungary is here to help you apply to graduate school, not just undergraduate programs? While we offer workshops and personal consultations on the undergraduate application process, we also provide information and assistance related to grad school applications. In this issue of our newsletter, check out Ohio State's MBA scholarship (pg. 2) and two master of laws scholarships (pg. 3) that could open the door to advanced study in the U.S.

If you are at the beginning of your college application process, we recommend watching informative videos on how to choose the right college, how you can study two subjects at once in a U.S. university, and how to decide if community college might be right for you. If you have already decided where to apply and still need to write your common application essay, read about the 2017-18 essay prompts here. There are three new ones that might inspire you.
